02-07

clear out of sight! Poor little Aqua, frightened by the impending cold and darkness, wished he could sleep, not in the sky, but somewhere closer to earth. Then, Aqua heard the wind blow and conjectured that maybe the wind could take him back down to the ocean. Indeed, the wind took pity on him and fanned him, together with