personality, but his wavy hair, and the way he moved his body. About a half-an-hour later, the boys in the orphanage called down to the main dining room by the matron, were told that they were all going to downtown Jacksonville, Florida to get a new pair of