sullenly towards the door. The matron was smiling at me sort of funny-like. The barber, upset by the matron, said to her, "You are just a damn bitch, lady." She yelled back at him at the top of her lungs, before walking toward the office, as fast as she could. To show his anger, the man hit the wall with