07-07

outside the school, which looked like a large shadow in the darkness of a November evening, Lucy felt a shiver run down her spine. Hastened by Jill, who did not want to be late to her own concert, Lucy hesitantly stepped out of the car and walked toward the school. It was Jill who, in her final year of high school, had