the general vicinity of Roswell or on the Plains of San Agustin in 1947.[He then added: "The debris found was the remains of something very earthly, all but certainly something from the Top Secret Project Mogul." Although most now agree with this conclusion, each year, during July Fourth weekend, the