10-09

Complex vocal tics include words or phrases. Perhaps the most dramatic and disabling tics include motor movements that result in self-harm, such as punching oneself in the face or vocal tics including coprolalia, which involves uttering swear words, or echolalia, which involves repeating the words or phrases