

02-14

floated under a bridge for a long distance, until they saw another brook tumbling down a hillside. Come, let's join hands! cried Aqua and because the water drops were all together, overcoming the brook was ch's play. It was by the help of Aqua and his brothers that the bewitching river was able to float heavy ships, though not so