

03-13

match that the little girl now rubbed on the wall and the light again shone round her. Her old grandmother in the brightness stood, loving in her appearance. The girl understood her grandmother would soon disappear, but she tried to play for time.

"Grandmother," cried the little one, "O take me with you! I know you will go away when the match burns out!" The