

04-12

mouse's hole, and creeping in cried, "I am king! I am king!" but it was of no avail. "You, our king!?" all the remaining birds who the littlest bird had outwitted cried again, even more angrily than before, "Do you think we would reward your cunning in this way? No, no! You shall stay in the earth till you die of hunger!" So they shut