

09-11

popularity, professional growers paid higher and higher prices for bulbs with the virus. By sixteen thirty-four, in part as a result of demand from the French, speculators began to enter the market. In sixteen thirty-six, the Dutch created a type of formal futures markets which merchants used to