02-11

busy grinding the wheat into flour and the corn into golden meal. But what giant do you suppose it was who could turn and swing that tremendous wheel? No giant at all. It was just our tiny little water drops, who sprang on it by hundreds and thousands, and whirled it over and over. It was lucky for the