beautiful as she did in the light of the little matches. The grandmother then took the little girl in her arms, and they both flew upwards in brightness and joy far above the earth, where there was neither cold nor hunger, and the little girl felt safe and peaceful. In the dawn of the morning there lay the poor little one, not frowning, but smiling and with a