05-13

powder, the barber handed me a nickel and told me to go outside to the snack machine and buy myself a candy bar. I handed him the nickel back and told him that I was not hungry. "I'm so sorry, baby," he said, as I climbed out of his barber chair. "I am not a baby," I said, as I wiped the tears from