06-06

are cute, right?" she asked, half to herself. The next day in art class, Abby needed two pieces of paper that were very expensive to draw an elephant, but the teacher didn't mind Abby using the expensive paper because she was pleased with the drawing and wanted it on the wall. The teacher, who was always very encouraging, remarked