07-08

involved in helping organize this year's school talent show, and she took her position very seriously. Lucy hurried behind Jill pulling on the worn, oversized coat that had originally belonged to Jill, in order to keep her dry as the raindrops fell all around them. As the sisters entered the hall where the show was to