various researchers interviewed - a seemingly impressive figure - a comparable few were true "witnesses" who claimed to have actually seen debris or aliens. Most of these so-called witnesses were repeating the claims of others, and their testimony would be inadmissible hearsay in an American court. As for the