09-03

United Provinces is generally thought to have started in earnest around fifteen ninety-three after the Flemish botanist Charles de l'~stecluse had taken up a post at the University of Leiden and established a botanical garden, which is famous as one of the oldest in the world. There, he planted his